SUMMARY

Cambridgeshire County Council has conducted the annual survey of independent schools in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough for thirty-three years. This year's survey found a total of 8,700 full-time (from age 4 onwards) pupils attending twenty-three independent schools in the two authorities. This represents an increase of 166 pupils since last year's survey.

The number of day pupils with Cambridgeshire or Peterborough addresses at independent schools in Cambridgeshire increased by 629 to 6,283. The numbers of weekly boarders decreased from 13 to less than 10, whilst the number of full boarders increased by 1 to 141. Cambridge City dominates the provision of independent education in the area, with 63% of the total number of private sector pupils educated in the two authorities attending independent schools in the city.

The number of students on roll at the three independent sixth form colleges surveyed in Cambridge City was 514, an increase of 1.6% from the previous year.

A total of 1,190 Cambridgeshire and Peterborough children were attending forty-five independent schools outside the county and within approximately fifteen miles of the county boundary. 1,044 of these children were day pupils and 146 were boarders, of which 694 and 100 are residents of Cambridgeshire, respectively. 525 of the day pupils (45%) were attending independent schools in Lincolnshire.

INTRODUCTION

Since 1980/81, the Research and Performance Team has carried out an annual survey into the provision of private sector education in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough. The aim of the survey is to 1) monitor changes in the contribution of independent schools to education in the county, and 2) to supplement the information collected on schools in the public sector, which is used for population analysis and forecasting purposes by the Research and Performance Team. This report presents the results of the thirty-third annual survey.

Some independent schools outside the county have a significant number of Peterborough or Cambridgeshire children on roll as day pupils. Therefore, as in previous years, this survey includes supplementary information on independent schools in neighbouring counties that are within daily travelling distance of the two authorities.

This survey and report covers both Cambridgeshire and the Peterborough Unitary Authority, and schools are asked to distinguish between Cambridgeshire and Peterborough pupils. Where possible we have given totals for both authorities separately but generally all totals and figures quoted in this report refer to the combined area of the two authorities.

THE SURVEY

FORM OF THE SURVEY

The survey of independent schools and sixth-form colleges in the county aimed to collect information in a form comparable to the Annual Schools' Census returns provided to the Department for Education (DfE) by Local Authority (LA) schools each January. This consists of numbers on roll in January, classified by single year of age at the previous 31st August. Most of the schools provided information on age that referred to some point near the beginning of the school year. It has been assumed that all ages in the survey refer to 31st August 2013.

Information was also sought on whether the school was co-educational or single sex, the numbers of day pupils and boarders (both weekly and full boarders) on roll, and the numbers of day pupils and boarders with home addresses within the county.

Independent schools from outside the county were asked to provide information on the sex, age-range and total number of pupils on roll together with the numbers of day pupils, and weekly and full boarders living in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough. Copies of the two survey forms are attached as Appendix 4. A map showing the schools surveyed can be seen in Figure 1.

COVERAGE AND RESPONSE

A total of twenty-three independent schools within Cambridgeshire were surveyed. The newest of these schools opened in 2010 in Cambridge: Gretton School and Phoenix School. Two independent schools in Peterborough were also surveyed (The Peterborough School and Iqra Academy). The survey does not cover nursery schools (except for the Stephen Perse Pelican Nursery which was included in the response for the foundations Pre-preparatory and Preparatory schools), and excluded the six sixth form centres that cater for overseas pupils.

Nineteen of the twenty-three (83%) independent schools within Cambridgeshire and Peterborough responded to the request for information (see Table 1). Three of the four independent sixth form colleges provided individual replies, and the fourth college provided a combined reply with a sister school so was counted with the in-county schools.

The survey of out of county schools covered all known independent schools within approximately fifteen miles of Cambridgeshire, excluding those known from previous years' surveys to have no Cambridgeshire children on roll. Replies were received from 30 (65%) of the 45 schools surveyed.

There are two specific areas of change from last year's survey. Firstly, Beechwood School (South Cambridgeshire) has changed its name to Focus School-Cambridge Campus. Secondly, out of county schools who have not responded since at least 2010, and who at last response had no pupils from Cambridgeshire or Peterborough, were removed from the survey this year. These schools are:

- St Nicholas School, Essex
- Stoke College, Suffolk
- The Christian School (Takeley), Essex
- The Princess Helena College, Hertfordshire
- Polam Oaks School with Little Acorns Nursery, Bedford
- South Lee School, Suffolk
- St Joseph's in the Park, Hertfordshire
- Orchard School and Nursery, Bedford

Where schools did not respond to this year's survey, but have done so in previous years, the data for previous years has been used for those schools. Therefore our data makes the assumption that the numbers of pupils at those schools has remained relatively unchanged, although this may not be the case. However, by using the historic figures we are able to achieve a proxy for higher levels of coverage. Of the in-county schools surveyed, historic figures were used for four schools, and of the out of county schools historic figures were used for 15 schools; these are indicated in the appendices.

RESULTS

INDEPENDENT SCHOOLS IN CAMBRIDGESHIRE AND PETERBOROUGH: COMPULSORY AGE RANGE (5 TO 15)

The detailed results of the survey of independent schools within the county are given in Appendix 1. This year, a total of ~8,700 full-time pupils (aged 4 upwards) were found on roll in 23 independent schools within Cambridgeshire and Peterborough. This represents an increase of around 2% on last year (166 pupils). Nationally, the Independent Schools Council (ISC) reported¹ that a like-for-like comparison between schools completing the 2013 and 2014 School Censuses showed pupil numbers 'held steady', but that overall the Independent Schools sector was growing, and so overall pupil numbers had increased.

Boarders with a home address in Cambridgeshire or Peterborough made up just 2% of the total roll in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough independent schools, representing a decrease of five pupils from last year. Not surprisingly, more day pupils in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough independent schools had home addresses within Cambridgeshire (72%) than in Peterborough (5%). However, three quarters of day pupils on roll at independent schools in Peterborough were from within Peterborough. Boarding pupils show a different pattern, with 23% of the total number of boarders in the two authorities' independent schools having a home within the area (this remains unchanged from 2012/13). Just over 1% of all boarders lived in Peterborough, a slight drop from 1.5% last year.

The number of private sector pupils within the compulsory age range (5 to 15) has increased 1% to 6,771; 62 higher than last year. Table 3 below shows the age structure of full-time pupils attending independent schools and colleges within Cambridgeshire and Peterborough. It is evident that the numbers and proportions of children attending private schools generally increase with age through the primary age groups.

Table 4 summarises the numbers and proportions of independent school places in Peterborough and Cambridgeshire as a percentage of all children in maintained and independent sectors. Apart from the relative importance of Kimbolton School in Huntingdonshire, Wisbech Grammar School in Fenland, and King's School (Ely) in East Cambridgeshire, Cambridge City dominates the provision of private sector education in Cambridgeshire. There are now a few schools just outside the City in South Cambridgeshire. Peterborough has two independent schools, Peterborough High School and the Iqra Academy. However, the proportion of children being educated in the private sector and living in Peterborough Authority is understated in this table, since many attend schools in Lincolnshire.

Compared to last year, the percentage of 5 to 10 year-olds on roll in independent schools has stayed at 5.1%, while the percentage of 11 to 15 year-olds has increased slightly from 8.7%² to 9.0%.

RECENT TRENDS IN PUPILS SINCE 2002 (AGED 5 TO 15)

The trends in numbers, and proportions, of private sector school pupils in the compulsory age-range since 2004 in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough independent schools are shown in Table 5 and Table 6.

Overall, the proportion of pupils aged 5 to 15 attending independent schools in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough in 2013/14 has increased marginally to 6.8% of all pupils. In 2013/14, the total number of pupils in the primary age group (5 to 10 year olds) is 2,866; 43 higher than last year. There has also been an increase of nineteen 11 to 15 year olds, to 3,905 (See Table 5) from 3,886.

The proportion of all 5 to 10 year pupils in independent schools is consistent with last year (5.1%), while the proportion in the secondary age range (11 to 15 year olds) are two percentage points higher (9.0%) (See Table 6).

Figure 2 shows the ten year trend in the number of day pupils and boarders attending schools in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough. The number of independent school day pupils has increased over the last five years and currently totals 8,061. The number of day pupils on roll at Cambridgeshire and Peterborough independent schools, and living in Cambridgeshire or Peterborough, has previously fluctuated between 5,400 and 5,700 since 2004/05. However, the last two years have seen a more notable rise, with a current figure of 6,906. The number of boarders has seen a differing trend, with numbers now falling slightly.

INDEPENDENT SCHOOLS IN CAMBRIDGESHIRE AND PETERBOROUGH: 16+ AGE RANGE

Obtaining data from some of the independent sixth forms in Cambridge City has often been difficult, with overseas pupils often being counted as 'living in Cambridgeshire' as they are living with host families. Table 7 excludes the centres that are known to cater mainly for overseas pupils. A total of 2,115 full time students were recorded, 5.8% higher than last year, and the highest volume recorded to date.

OUT OF COUNTY INDEPENDENT SCHOOLS

Appendix 3 sets out the results from the survey of independent schools within fifteen miles of the Cambridgeshire and Peterborough boundary. This includes Haileybury, Hertfordshire and Framlingham College, Suffolk (the sister School of Barnardiston Hall Preparatory School, Haverhill) which are just over 15 miles from the boundary. A total of 1,190 children from Cambridgeshire and Peterborough were recorded attending these schools, consisting of 1,044 day pupils (694 from Cambridgeshire) and 146 boarders (100 from Cambridgeshire). This reflects a total decrease of 229 pupils from last year's survey.

The five independent schools in Lincolnshire had around 45% of all the children recorded in out of county schools with home addresses in Cambridgeshire or Peterborough. This year's survey recorded 525 Cambridgeshire and Peterborough day pupils (1 more than in 2012/13³), and 18 boarders (4 less than in 2012/13), on roll at these independent schools.

³ The 2012/13 report printed a figure of 546, but this was an error. The correct figure for 2012/13 is 524.

Consistent with recent years, Baston, Newmarket and Stamford are the out of county school locations with the highest proportion of pupils on roll that have home addresses in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough.

FLOW OF INDEPENDENT SCHOOL PUPILS INTO CAMBRIDGESHIRE

Meldreth Manor is the Cambridgeshire independent school with the highest proportion of out of county pupils on roll, with 95% of pupils not from Cambridgeshire or Peterborough. However, this is a special school with a small number of pupils overall. Focus School - Cambridge Campus (Formerly Beechwood School) (46% out of county pupils) and Gretton School (31% out of county pupils) also attract a high proportion of out of county pupils. It is useful to note that other Cambridgeshire schools attract high volumes, rather than proportions, of out of county pupils: The Perse Foundation Schools (22%, 318 out of county pupils), Kimbolton (31%, 292 out of county pupils), The Leys School (47%, 259 out of county pupils), St Mary's School (36%, 234 out of county pupils), and St John's College School (45%, 201 out of county pupils).

Some independent schools and colleges in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough attract substantial numbers of day pupils from outside Cambridgeshire and Peterborough. The most popular schools in this respect were: The Stephen Perse: Pelican Nursery, Pre-preparatory and Preparatory Schools (318), Kimbolton School (254), Wisbech Grammar School (246⁴), St John's College (179), St Mary's (146) King's: Junior, Pre-preparatory, and School (111), and St Faith's School (100). Few day pupils from Peterborough come into Cambridgeshire (45, a decrease from 80 pupils in 2012/13) with Wisbech Grammar School being the most popular (21). However a large, and increasing, number of Cambridgeshire pupils attend The Peterborough School (113). This figure increased from 82 pupils in 2012/13.

A total of 1,304 day-pupils from beyond the Cambridgeshire and Peterborough boundary attended independent schools in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough, 407 pupils less than last year. The Independent Schools Council reported that the number of overseas pupils in independent schools is increasing. Given the international reputation of some of the independent schools in Cambridgeshire it is unlikely that this decrease is due to falling international pupils. One possible explanation may be a difference in recording systems year on year.

THE PROPORTION OF CAMBRIDGESHIRE CHILDREN ATTENDING INDEPENDENT SCHOOLS

Any estimate of the proportion of children living in Cambridgeshire and being educated privately is difficult due to the complex patterns of movement of independent school pupils into and out of the county. In asking for schools to distinguish between Cambridgeshire and Peterborough a rough estimate of total numbers can be provided. We can then compare these with the proportions of the estimated population not on roll at Local Authority monitored schools.

A total of 7,046 (6,352 in county and 694 out of county) day pupils and 242 (142 in county and 100 out of county) boarders (7,288 altogether) were recorded in this year's survey as attending independent schools or colleges either inside or outside the county and resident in Cambridgeshire (excluding the three sixth form colleges surveyed).

The comparison of numbers of pupils on local authority school rolls with estimates of total population suggest that, in Cambridgeshire and Peterborough together, around 4% of children aged 5 to 10 and 13% aged 11 to 15 are not on roll at local authority schools. These figures include children on roll at local authority schools outside Cambridgeshire and Peterborough and children being educated at home. For Cambridgeshire alone, the proportions not attending local authority schools are higher: 6% of children aged 5 to 10 and 17% of those aged 11 to 15.
